

How can I find out more about accreditation and begin the accreditation process for my school/district?

Visit www.advanc-ed.org for a step-by-step guide to initial accreditation, or contact your NCA CASI or SACS CASI State Office. A listing of state offices also is available on the AdvancED Web site.

How else can I get involved in the accreditation process?

You can assist with accreditation efforts by:

- Talking with your superintendent and school principals about accreditation.
- Volunteering to serve on school/district improvement committees.
- Helping inform the community of the importance of NCACASI/SACS CASI accreditation.
- Requesting and reviewing your NCA CASI/SACS CASI external review team reports for your schools.
- Celebrating and recognizing the schools in your district when they earn accreditation and make strides in continuous improvement efforts.

About AdvancED

AdvancED is the parent organization for the North Central Association Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement (NCA CASI), the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Council on Accreditation and School Improvement (SACS CASI), and the National Study of School Evaluation (NSSE). What is accreditation?

Accreditation is a voluntary method of quality assurance developed more than 100 years ago by American universities and secondary schools. Today, to demonstrate educational quality, accreditation is used by education providers of all types from traditional schools to distance learning providers to tutoring centers serving all ages of students from toddlers to adults.

Accreditation engages the school community in meeting high quality standards, implementing a continuous improvement process, and engaging in quality assurance through internal and external review. Accredited schools demand rigor, use data to make informed decisions, and approach the documentation of results with discipline. Accredited schools invite external scrutiny and welcome the constructive feedback of peers.

Who provides accreditation?

Through AdvancED, the North Central Association Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement (NCA CASI) and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Council on Accreditation and School Improvement (SACS CASI) accredit Pre-K through grade 12 public and private schools and districts in 30 states, the Navajo Nation, the Department of Defense Schools, and Latin America. NCA CASI also accredits non-degree granting post-secondary schools.

NCA CASI and SACS CASI are non-governmental, non-profit organizations founded in 1895. AdvancED is the parent organization for NCA CASI, SACS CASI, and the National Study of School Evaluation (NSSE), a research and development organization, and is dedicated to advancing excellence in education worldwide.

What does accreditation mean for the schools in my district?

Being an NCA CASI or SACS CASI accredited school means that schools are provided with:

- A distinctive mark of quality recognized internationally, that affords external recognition of the school's commitment to quality
- Standards based on educational research and best practice
- Clear and intuitive processes for school improvement that are grounded in best practices from the education and business fields
- A framework and support system to help meet and exceed local, state, national, and appropriate international requirements
- Professional development opportunities such as service on review teams, annual conferences, and state workshops on all aspects of school improvement
- An opportunity to gain valuable input, validation, and support from peers
- A connection to the best practices of over 23,000 public and private schools
- Customized and technical assistance to maximize improvement efforts
- Access to a rich and wide array of resources and tools aimed at enhancing improvement efforts

How will our students benefit from accreditation?

Students are the ultimate beneficiaries of the accreditation process. When the entire school is aligned and focused on a shared vision for student learning, students win. They benefit from the enhanced focus on student performance and from greater articulation and coordination as they move from one level of schooling to another. In addition, the NCA CASI and SACS CASI accreditation seals provide an educational currency for student credits that is recognized worldwide, easing the transferability of credits among other accredited schools and enabling access to special programs, grants, and scholarships.

How does accreditation fit with state and federal accountability requirements?

AdvancED, the parent organization for NCA CASI and SACS CASI, provides an accreditation process that educators can use to meet local, state, and federal requirements as their schools earn accreditation. While governmental mandates inform schools of what they must accomplish, AdvancED shows schools how to do it by providing them with the process, tools, training, support, and external teams to help them continually meet and exceed mandated expectations.

How do schools earn accreditation?

To earn NCA CASI or SACS CASI accreditation, schools must follow the AdvancED accreditation process, which represents the unified accreditation process of NCA CASI and SACS CASI. Schools must:

1. Meet the AdvancED standards. The standards require that schools have a clear vision and purpose; have effective and responsive leadership; have a rigorous curriculum taught through sound, research-based methods; collect, report, and use performance results; provide adequate resources and support for its educational programs; value and communicate with stakeholders; and have a commitment to continuously improve. The standards are derived from educational research and best practice. They can be viewed and downloaded at www.advanc-ed.org.
2. Engage in a continuous process of improvement. Accredited schools are committed to being better today than they were yesterday. The schools identify a shared vision, maintain a school-wide profile of the current reality, establish plans and assess the implementation of interventions, and document the results of their efforts to improve student learning and school effectiveness.
3. Demonstrate quality assurance through internal and external review. Internal review involves the schools and their stakeholders. External review involves feedback from experienced educators outside the schools. In both cases, reviewers examine evidence to determine if schools are meeting the standards and achieving goals for improving student learning and school effectiveness.
